Acknowledgments

The publication of this report would not be possible without the assistance of the county houses of correction. The author would like to thank the many county houses of correction Records and Administration staff for providing Research & Planning with access to the necessary information to produce this report.

The contribution of DOC employee's Collette McKoy, Pamela McLaughlin and Suzanne Gesualdi are greatly appreciated. Review of earlier drafts, particularly by Research and Executive staff is also very much appreciated.

This report is accessible on the DOC website at www.state.ma.us/doc/ and is also available at the following libraries: Massachusetts State Library; Library of Congress, Washington D.C.; Boston Public Library; University of Massachusetts, Amherst; Springfield City Library; and Worcester Public Library.

If you have any questions regarding this report, please contact Research and Planning.

Executive Summary

The total number of offenders sentenced to Massachusetts county facilities (houses of correction) during 1999 was 17,068. The breakdown by gender was 16,332 males (96% of total population) and 736 females (4% of total population). The largest racial/ethnic group represented was Caucasian (58%), followed by African American (21%) and Hispanic (19%). The average age of inmates incarcerated during 1999 was 31 years for males and 32 years for females, ranging from 15 to 77 years of age. The average sentence length was six months. The average educational level was 11th grade.

Highlights

- In 1999, there were 17,068 commitments to county facilities. This represents a decrease of nine percent from the 18,748 commitments in 1998, the second consecutive decrease over the last ten years.
- The total number of female commitments continued to decrease from 1997 to 1999 by 246 (25%).
- Despite the recent decrease among females in County facilities, there has been a 84% increase over the ten year period 1990 to 1999.
- Hampshire County had the largest decrease in commitments (22%) from 399 in 1998 to 310 in 1999.
- Twenty-three percent of county commitments were committed for offenses against the person, twenty-one percent for property offenses, nineteen percent for drug offenses, fourteen percent for 'other' offenses, twelve percent for motor vehicle offenses, nine percent for operating under the influence of alcohol (OUI) and two percent for sex offenses.
- The most common offenses for which offenders were committed were assault/assault and battery (fourteen percent), motor vehicle violations (eleven percent), and O.U.I. (nine percent).
- Two percent were committed in lieu of a fine. There was a significant reduction (27%) in fines issued compared to the previous year (1998).

Introduction

This report provides a statistical description of offenders committed to Massachusetts county facilities (houses of correction) during 1999. Offenders are described in terms of commitment institution, month of commitment, committing court, offense, sentence length, sentence type (weekend and jail sentences), sex, age, race, marital status, education, place of birth, and residence. Trends in court commitments to the county correctional system over the past decade are also presented.

All new court commitments and those individuals who began serving a new sentence during the year are included in this report. If an individual was committed more than once during 1999, each court commitment for that individual is counted separately.

The statistical tables were derived from information submitted by each county facility to the Research and Planning Division of the Massachusetts Department of Correction (DOC), and were produced on the DOC's VAX Computer System. A glossary of terms is provided in the back of this report to reference definitions of some terms used.

There are fourteen counties in Massachusetts. All counties except for Nantucket county have at least one county correctional facility administered by the county sheriff. These facilities usually contain a jail for pre-trial detainees, and a house of correction for sentenced inmates. Suffolk county has a separate facility for its jail (Nashua Street) and its house of correction (South Bay). Middlesex county has two facilities, a combined jail and house of correction in Billerica and a jail in Cambridge.

Four counties have specialized facilities for sentenced offenders: Essex county has the Correctional Alternative Center (CAC) in Lawrence; Hampden county has the Western Massachusetts Correctional Alcohol Center (WMCAC) facility in Springfield; Bristol county has the David R. Nelson Correctional Addiction Center (DRNCAC) in New Bedford; and Norfolk county has the Braintree Alternative Center (BAC) in Braintree. Individuals are not committed directly to these four facilities, but can be transferred to them from a house of correction or state correctional facility.

This report has been organized into three sections. The first section describes the demographic characteristics of 1999 commitments. The second section depicts information about criminal offenses for the inmate population. The third section addresses data regarding sentencing, such as court from which committed, type of sentence, and sentence length. Please note that due to rounding, percentages may not add to 100%.
